

Supply Chain Management (SCM) involves overseeing and managing the flow of goods, services, and information from the initial suppliers to the end customers. It encompasses a range of activities aimed at optimizing operations and enhancing efficiency throughout the supply chain. Deep learning is a subset of machine learning that uses neural networks with many layers (hence "deep") to model complex patterns in large datasets. This proposal describes about how SCM is implemented using deep learning.