SAMUEL BECKETT'S FAMED 1940s tragicomedy Waiting for Godot is about... well, what is it about?

The ludicrousness, nonetheless, is found in the existentialist conviction that life has no reason, and keeping in mind that the decisions that we make are insignificant for fantastic scope, they at last impact our self-definition. Everything is redundant and going on in a cyclic manner. Life is useless as an air pocket. Every one of these issues arose after the disaster of universal conflicts and results of that fierceness. Presence of individual and God was being referred to. All journalists of existentialist way of thinking proposed that person ought to recognize his own singularity and quit looking towards a saviour or a heavenly ability to handle issues of men hostility. This examination paper explained absurdity in Beckett's work with the assistance of literary confirmations from "Waiting for Godot" to demonstrate how essayist effectively opened ways for conversation about human corruption.

It's a play about two men – one having terrible trouble with his shoes, the other having terrible trouble with his prostate – who are waiting in a barren landscape near a single tree.

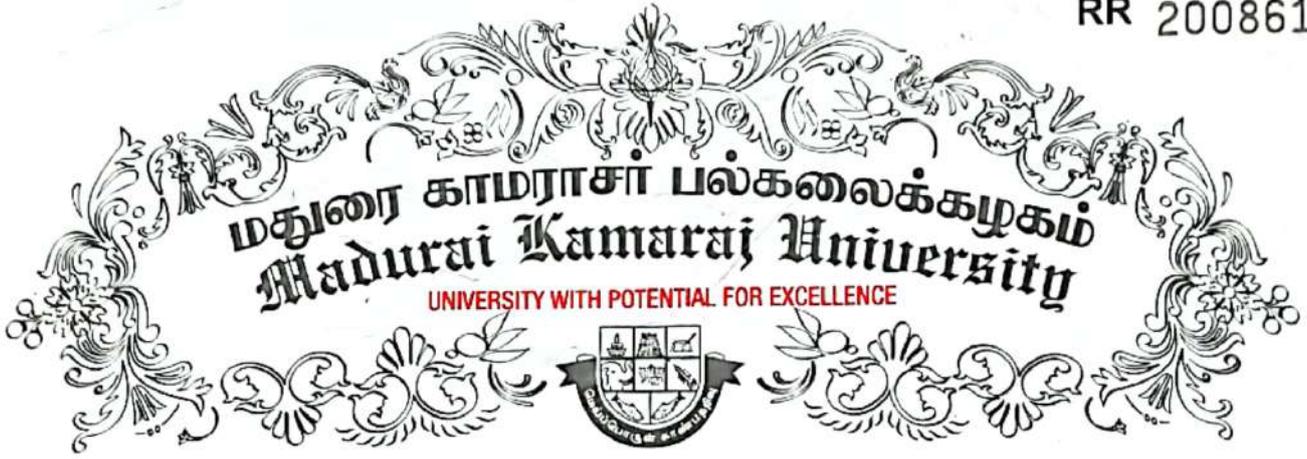

It's a play about two men – called Vladimir and Estragon – who are waiting for a Godot who never comes; a play about two men who meet, while they're waiting, two other men.

It's a play where the same thing happens in the first half of the play and the second half.

It's a mystery, an enigma wrapped in a riddle. Or maybe it just is what it is.

There are many interpretations – some say the men are lovers, others say they are friends. Some say the 'Godot' is God, others that he is a character who appears in the play.

Beckett himself said that if he had meant 'Godot' to mean 'God', he'd have said God.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

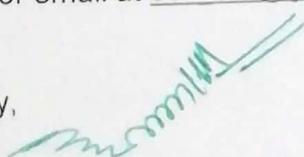

This letter of recommendation speaks to the performance attributes of Mr. Sajid.V.V, who worked as a lecturer of English Language and literature in our organization during 10 June 2007 to 30 June 2009. I have found him to be committed and hard-working. During his term here he has truly become an integral part of our team. His collaborative demeanor and high energy has ignited enthusiasm in students and has exhibited a genuine ability to connect to his students in which he serves.

He has been very active and enthusiastic in teaching English linguistics as well as literature for the graduate students. It is definitely worth stating here that Mr.Sajid.V.V has profound knowledge and skills in English language and literature and his passion for teaching with a unique methodology and the ability to address the need of each student made him an outstanding professional in the field of teaching.

During Sajid.V.V' tenure here he has truly become an integral part of our team. He is timely in completing tasks and has many good ideas to offer and share all of which help create a positive collaborative environment. I consider him to be a very competent specialist in such fields as English language teaching methodology, educational technologies, language testing, assessment and material design. In short, he is a valuable team member and his honesty and reliability ensured that he was on good terms with other faculty members and more importantly, liked by his students throughout his career in our college.

On the personal front, Mr.Sajid.V.V is well disciplined and industrious with a pleasant personality. Without any shadow of doubt, I can sturdily endorse him for the position of English lecturer, and I look forward to learning more about the accomplishments that lie in his professional future. He has a positive attitude and can go on well with one and all. In summary, I strongly recommend Sajid.V.V without any hesitation, for academic position at any esteemed Institution. I wish him all success in his future endeavors. If you do require any further information, please feel free to call college at 04972704090 or email at coc_knr@gmail.com

Yours Sincerely,

The Chairman,

To Whom It May Concern

It's my pleasure to write a letter of reference for Mr.Sajid.V.V, who worked under me as a faculty member of the English Department and imparted Cambridge IGCSE English syllabus during his tenure at Inguraidhoo School. Having seen Mr. Sajid.V.V give his best for the period of 8 years and impressed me with his articulate, logical way of speaking, I can definitely vouch for him.

Mr. Sajid.V.V is a competent English teacher with strong work ethics. He possesses an open, accessible personality, and he is sensitive to the issues involved in cross-cultural communication as well as relationships at a professional level. I have seen a bright, talented teacher who takes time to plan, reach students from diverse backgrounds, and train students to be independent and collaborative learners. Furthermore, he uses sophisticated vocabulary and language structures, he recognized the needs of his students and makes appropriate changes in his teaching.

I consider him to be a very competent specialist in such fields as English language teaching methodology, educational technologies, language testing, and assessment and material design. His excellent command over the subject and the ability to address the need of each student made him an outstanding professional in the field of teaching. Being highly organized in the classroom and always striving for something extra helped him to rise to a better position within a year of joining the school. He has shown excellent classroom management skills and developed a rapport with students, colleagues, and parents that is characterized by mutual respect. His honesty and reliability ensured that he was on good terms with other faculty members and, more importantly, liked by him students throughout his career at Inguraidhoo School.

I have no doubt that in view of his potentiality and dexterity that he possess and he will be a productive contributor to the work of any institution and as a conscientious, honest and open-minded person will be a valuable member of a team of colleagues.

It is my sincerest hope that you see Sajid.V.V's talents as an English teacher for their true value. Please don't hesitate to contact me for any further information.
